Chief Financial Officer

Join a transformational executive team growing and developing a high-impact organization focused on women and their children on their journey from poverty and homelessness to prosperity. The CFO is responsible for all financial matters of the Center for Transforming Lives and affiliate organizations. As the CFO, this individual works alongside the board, the CEO and the other members of the executive team in developing and executing current and future financial strategy, and has primary responsibility for developing, overseeing and implementing accounting and operational functions. These duties include financial planning, annual planning and agency and program budget development, grant budgets, financial reporting, payroll, and all related administrative functions. Other operations oversight includes risk management, facilities, HR, IT and social enterprises.

Ideal candidates are collaborative organizational builders, with an ability to plan for the future while ensuring the success of the details for today, and approach problems with a growth mindset. Must have a successful track record of maximizing government grant and contract revenue along with corresponding match planning and documentation. Successful candidates will also have an ability to develop and maintain effective relationships with internal department leaders and external funding sources. To be considered, candidates will have:

- Minimum of BS; a CPA/and/or MBA is a plus;
- At least five years' experience as CFO or equivalent in non-profit of at least $10M;
- Deep knowledge and understanding of OMB Circular A133 Audit;
- Highly developed relationship skills;
- Excellent analytical and abstract reasoning skills, plus excellent organizational skills.

Competitive compensation and benefits; wage commensurate with goodness of fit, experience and education. Please send your resume and letter of interest to cklocek@transforminglives.org.
